

What the Hack: Functions & Modules | Episode 11 Challenges

Ready to test your knowledge? Turn your brain fans on to maximum speed with these challenges!

Challenge 1: Addition Function!

In this challenge, try and define a function that takes 2 numbers as its 2 parameters, and have the function return the result after adding the two numbers!

Challenge 2: Subtraction Function!

In this challenge, try and define a function that takes 2 numbers as its 2 parameters, and have the function return the result after subtracting the second number from the first number!

Challenge 3: Multiplication Function!

In this challenge, try and define a function that takes 2 numbers as its 2 parameters, and have the function return the result after multiplying the two numbers!

Challenge 4: Division Function!

In this challenge, try and define a function that takes 2 numbers as its 2 parameters, and have the function return the result after dividing the first number with the second number!

Challenge 5: Simple Calculator Module!

In this challenge, make a calculator module with whatever name you like, and put the calculation functions that you created in that module! And then, try to use the functions from your module for some simple math calculation!